‘Get To Know Us!’ is a guide to your new home, and what a home it is Peruse this year’s “Get to Know Us!” and you will find that there’s a lot more to Rolla and Phelps County than you might think. To say our community is growing is an understatement.

It’s booming.

Growth in retail is just part of the story. Along with more jobs comes more demand for services, dining, entertainment, health care, educational opportunities and more. All that translates into steady improvement in the quality of life for residents.

We, as a community, want to show off a little bit. “Get to Know Us!” is a guide for newcomers that will be distributed through the Rolla Area Chamber of Commerce and local businesses and organizations beginning in February.

It is full of everything you need to know to make your relocation here easier, or in some instances, help persuade you to relocate here.

Phelps County is truly a rare gem of the Ozarks, perhaps in some ways a hidden gem, offering not only the basics such as jobs, good transportation (right on Interstate 44), health care and education, but lots of entertainment and cultural activities. If you need a little persuasion, just take a look through these pages.

This is the Phelps County Focus’ sixth newcomers guide. We started our newspaper and website (phelpscountyfocus.com) in August of 2017 and quickly saw the need for an updated, professional newcomers guide to complement all of the guides and work that the Rolla Area Chamber of Commerce and city and county governments are doing to highlight what is going on here.

We hope to attract business growth and visitors, as well as remind residents of what a great place they live in. Speaking of the chamber, city and county, we are blessed to have those folks, as well as local businesses and organizations, work so hard to make this community what it is. They deserve a lot of the credit for what’s going on and what you see on all the pages of “Get to Know Us!”

We hope this guide – which will also appear online at phelpscountyfocus.com and rollachamber.org – is a big help to you as you make a move to Phelps County. We truly have a lot going for us and are glad to have you become a part of our growing, welcoming community.

And that community now includes you!

SERVICES

FIRE DEPARTMENTS

Rolla Fire and Rescue, the Rolla Fire Department, continues to provide rigorous and vigorous fire prevention and suppression programs while also maintaining up-to-date equipment. Jeff Breen has officially succeeded Ron Smith as fire chief. John Marti has been promoted to assistant chief.

To carry out its mission statement "to protect the lives, property and environment of the citizens and visitors to the City of Rolla," the department also conducts public education in various venues including the schools. Firefighters undergo regular training exercises. And thanks to the taxpayers, the department has ample and effective equipment.

A continued Class 2 rating from the Insurance Services Office puts Rolla Fire and Rescue among the top two percent of fire departments in Missouri.

There are more than two dozen firefighters employed with the department. Chief is Jeff Breen.

Two fire stations are manned 24/7/365: Station No. 1 at 1490 E. 10th St. and Station No. 2 at 400 W Fourth St.

The administrative office is at Station No. 1. Administrative assistant is Lynette Manley. The business phone number is 573-364-3989. Office hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.; the office is closed for lunch from noon to 1 pm.

For more information, check the website at www.rollacity.org/fire.

If you have an emergency, call 911.

Phelps County rural residents also have highly qualified, tax-supported fire protection districts with good equipment serving them. They, too, respond to 911 calls when you have an emergency.

LAW ENFORCEMENT

Phelps County Sheriff's Department

The Phelps County Sheriff's Department website declares, "The department is resolved to make Phelps County a superior spot to live and an awkward spot for individuals who violate the law."

Long-time lawman Mike Kirn is the sheriff. He was sworn into office in January 2021.

Department headquarters are located in the Phelps County Jail next to the Phelps County Courthouse.

The old jail has been renovated and houses federal prisoners, and an addition to the new jail is to be completed this year.

Round-the-clock service and response are offered by the Phelps County Sheriff's Department. For an emergency, call 911 anytime. For non-emergency service, the business number during regular business hours is 573-426-3860.

Law enforcement agencies today use websites and social media to reach out to residents of their jurisdictions, and a good place to start is at the Phelps County Sheriff's Department's website, <https://www.phelpscountysd.org>.

Missouri S&T Miners dig deeper, and build Rolla higher

By Hannah Martinez

Staff Writer

hannah@phelpscountyfocus.com

The roots of the Missouri University of Science and Technology have been figuratively and literally drilled into the bedrock of Rolla, as the school was first established here as the Missouri School of Mines and Metallurgy (MSM) in 1870. There have been a series of reinvention periods at 20- to 50-year intervals, shaping its current reputation as one of the best technological research universities in the country.

“Rolla is as much a part of Missouri S&T’s story as Missouri S&T is a part of Rolla’s story,” said Fred Stone, associate vice chancellor of facility planning and operations.

In recent years the university has published goals and renderings to show what they’re building and why at masterplan.mst.edu. The most recent “Campus Master Plan” was released in 2020 with construction plans designed to attract and support Chancellor Mo Dehghani’s “North Star Goals”: increasing student enrollment from 8,000 to 12,000. Stone discussed with the Phelps County Focus the projects on the horizon for the next three to four years.

At the beginning of 2024, $300 million worth of the planned construction projects were in progress. Stone shared that many of the projects were preparing the campus arrival district, connecting campus to Interstate 44 and providing a more visible access point for visitors.

“This kind of grand, formal entry will really help define people’s first impression of the university,” said Stone.

The arrival district has already seen the completion of projects like the realignment of Tim Bradley Way, the bright green pedestrian bridge across I-44 and an underground parking garage for the Havener Center and the future Welcome Center. However, this year the Innovation Lab is scheduled to be completed by the end of January 2024 and this spring construction will begin on the Welcome Center as well as a pedestrian underpass for crossing Highway 63.

The Innovation Lab is a 48,000-square-foot building, connected to the Havener Center. The building is ideal for students to study, access tools to create prototypes and visit student resources like the Writing Center and Student Success Center.

The planned 32,000-square-foot, three-level Welcome Center is designed to warmly attract prospective students from all over the world.

Stone explained that the Welcome Center will be a space for the admissions team to meet with prospective students and their families to learn “what the Missouri S&T experience is, who we are and share why a Missouri S&T education is important.”

Before this year, crossing Highway 63 has brought up concerns to ensure convenience and safety. A pedestrian tunnel was provided for students to cross, but the pathway was dark and relatively narrow—only 8 feet wide. The inconvenient crossing point caused many students to take their chances dodging cars above ground, so the university is providing a more spacious 30-foot-wide, high-ceilinged pedestrian underpass at a more intuitive crossing point.

“We have notified businesses that own property along Highway 63 early this year that there will be a closure of Highway 63 in March to complete that project, and that keeps us on track for an August completion of that underpass,” said Stone.

This month the university will release a request for qualifications for a private developer to lease a part of campus’s arrival district and build a hotel and conference center along the south side of Tim Bradley Way. Stone said the project is expected to serve university visitors, travelling athletic teams, visitors to Rolla, and Phelps Health visitors. Having a hotel, conference center, and restaurant in this area of Rolla and within walking distance to the Missouri S&T campus will be attractive for visitors.

Significant construction projects are planned and in progress at the heart of campus as well. Later this year a $50 million renovation of the engineering research laboratory will break ground. Schrenk Hall’s east wing will be updated to maintain the facility’s state of the art laboratories and mechanical systems across campus are being replaced.

North of I-44, work began last year on the Missouri Protoplex, a 117,000-square-foot building scheduled to be completed in late 2025. Early this year the footings and foundations will be laid for the impressive structure.

Within the Protoplex, research labs and large-scale manufacturing equipment will enable research partners to collaborate with university representatives and organizations, including the university’s Center for Advanced Manufacturing.

Dr. Joseph Haslag, a professor of economics at the University of Missouri-Columbia, conducted an economic impact study anticipating that the Protoplex will generate $3.5 billion for the state in 35 years.

“The Missouri Protoplex is the first building in our manufacturing technology and innovation campus,” said Stone. “It is focused on helping Missouri manufacturers do research and development.”

Stone said that all of the university’s construction projects are meant to support the university’s goals for growth, but that it will strengthen the symbiotic relationship between the school and the city as well.

“Community engagement was a pretty important part of our “Master Plan” back in 2020. We had several forums where community members were invited to participate and share their opinions, and all of that was taken into account as we formed a plan,” said Stone. “The growth of the university is important to the city in the same way that the growth of the city is important to the university, and a lot of our “Master Plan” is focused on elevating Rolla just as much as it is elevating S&T.”

Stone empathized with the patience and forbearance of local drivers navigating road disruptions, assuring that the finished product will be something worth closing a highway for.

“We have to do these things to improve and this is just the nature of progress,” said Stone. “These things are temporary and when we finish, we’ll have a lot to show for the construction activity that’s happened and the growth that we’ll see.”

for its 100% loss prevention score.

RMU was one of only nine utilities in the country to receive a customer service award.

The award was the result of a customer service survey conducted in the spring of 2023. RMU received high marks from customers in these areas: customer service, field personnel, communication, reliability, value, outage response, innovation and overall satisfaction.

That was good news. There was a little bit of negative news last year, owing to the increased cost of power. RMU buys electrical power from the MoPEP power pool, and the Board of Public Works, which governs the city-owned utility, had to raise rates slightly to meet the rising costs of purchased power.

It could have been worse. One way power pool costs are set is by figuring in peak demand. New peaks in demand for power will result in increased wholesale costs of power.

To try to keep demand down and avoid a new peak, RMU has a peak alert program, and all residents are encouraged to join that program.

Some people balk at the idea of weathering a little heat for a short time in the summer or a little cold for a short time in the winter. Their instinct is to crank the heat up in the winter and the air conditioner in the summer.

If everyone does that, they can set a new peak demand on the electric usage, and that peak demand is used by the power pool in setting rates for the or wholesale power, which Rolla Municipal Utilities buys and then sells to local residents.

And RMU General Manager Rodney Bourne has explained numerous times that RMU, though it is a municipally owned non-profit power and water provider, so those increased costs will have to be passed on to the customers.

So, when you crank up the furnace or the air conditioner, you might feel comfortable now, but you might wind up paying for it later.

You can sign up by texting EZRMUALERT to 573-341-1344.

When you get a peak alert on your smartphone, you'll be asked to adjust your thermostat (depending on the time of year) for a few hours per day for a day or two or three, depending on what weather is expected. The whole idea is to avoid setting a new peak load demand.

Bourne said the peak-shaving program will likely be necessary only during a few days for a couple of seasons, the coldest times in winter and the hottest days of summer.

There is an informative website at www.rmurolla.org that will tell newcomers or potential residents of Rolla everything they need to know about becoming a customer of the municipal utility. RMU also has a Facebook presence.

Other managers are Chad Davis, engineering manager; Gwen Cresswell, finance manager, and Jason Grunloh, business manager. Eric Lonning is the electric department superintendent. Jason Bell is the water department superintendent.

RMU is governed by the Board of Public Works; members are appointed by the mayor and confirmed by the city council.

The office is a 120 W. Ninth St. Telephone number is 573-364-1572.

AIRPORTS

Rolla National Airport has been important to the Rolla, Phelps County and the region since its construction in 1942.

Since then—and since the airport became property of the city of Rolla in 1958—the city government has worked to maintain the airport and keep it up-to-date.

That attention continued with a presentation from municipal Public Works Director Darin Pryor to the Rolla City Council just this past November for approval of a contract with a company to design improvements to the taxiway at the airport.

That contract was for $45,558, and it will be reimbursed by the Federal Aviation Administration, with the Missouri Department of Transportation administering the grant.

What the contracted company Woolpert Inc., will do is design a reconstruction project for what is called Taxiway A, along with rehabilitating the taxiway connector and rehabilitating the taxiway edge lighting. It is expected that the project, after it is designed, will be in two bid packages. The council approved the ordinance to authorize the contract.

That's just one example of the support for the airport by the city leadership, both appointed and elected, support that is sometimes misunderstood by local residents who have no connection with the airport and do not understand its importance in the local economy.

But if you are new to the Rolla area—or looking for a place to relocate—and you are a pilot, be assured that city leadership, so far, understands that importance.

Rolla National Airport, built in 1942 for the U.S. Army and owned by the Rolla city government since 1958, is a modern, efficient, facility. It offers T-hangars, a large hangar and tie-down spaces for rent or lease.

The airport is 12 miles north on Rolla on Highway 63 in Maries County near Vichy.

Build as a U.S. Army airfield, it has two lighted 5500' x 100' asphalt runways. The airport is served by both non-precision VOR/DME and GPS approaches. In addition to the hangar and tie-down spaces, available services include fuel sales and flight instruction services provided by private businesses at the site.

The airport sits on 1,200 acres, most of it under an agricultural lease. Debate on a new use for the property—as a solar farm—was begun at the first meeting of the council in 2024.

Among the businesses at the airport are Baron Aviation, in operation since 1973 and a feeder carrier for FedEx since 1975. Baron has 30-plus aircraft flying through the Midwest.

In business at the airport since 2014 is Brewer Science with its 22,000 square-foot advanced manufacturing facility. Brewer is the first occupant of the RNA Technology and Industrial Park, which has a new water and sewer system, including a 300,000-gallon elevated water tank for fire suppression.

Nearly 50 aircraft are based at the airport, which stays busy every day with travelers making stops for fuel or business flights coming and going with executives coming to meet with other business people in Rolla or nearby. In fact, many of those execs prefer to fly into Rolla National Airport and drive to Columbia or Jefferson City or other Missouri cities for business meetings.

Major users include Missouri University of Science and Technology, Phelps Health, governmental agencies, local and regional businesses, and private pilots.

The airport is managed by Darrin Bacon, and the facility is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week, 365 days a year to pilots.

The phone number at the airport is 573-299-4498. Email address is airport@rollacity.gov.

For more information, visit the city website at www.rollacity.gov/airport.

PRIVATE AIRPORTS

There are a couple of private airports in the Rolla area, too, according to www.airport-data.com: Rolla Downtown Airport, 13720 County Road 7040, and Harrison Private Airport, County Road 154.

EDUCATION

PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Rolla 31 School District

It's been a tough year, thanks to supply-chain difficulties and other unexpected contingencies, for the construction project at Rolla High School.

Superintendent of Schools Dr. Kyle Dare was hoping the new field house portion of the multi-million-dollar project would be near enough to completion that the gym could be used. In addition, that has to be done to get fully in the performing arts center portion of the project.

In late December of 2023 and early January of this year, it appeared that enough pieces were falling together to get projects done.

This all part of a $25 million bond issue approved in the 2020 June election by school district voters.

The financing from that was for these projects:

- Improve safety and security throughout all the buildings.
- Turn the high school gymnasium into a performing arts center for music and theatrical events while also adding a new field house.

- Add space for Rolla Junior High band and music classes.
- Put a new entrance on Truman Elementary School and adding a real library.

• Renovate shop space and restrooms at Rolla Technical Institute. Those other projects are complete, and the high school project is nearly complete, full attention can be turned to the improvements covered by the 2023 bond issue, which includes much upgrading of heating/cooling and ventilation equipment throughout the district's buildings.

There have been some changes in leadership at the district. Dare succeeded Craig Hounsom, the former teacher, coach and assistant superintendent who took the lead position in the months when something called a coronavirus was hitting the Far East and Europe and there were only a few cases of it in the U.S.

Hounsom guided the district through the worldwide COVID-19 pandemic, which included school closing, remote learning, lunches served in the parking lots.

Rolla students and staff made it through the worldwide viral pestilence, and Hounsom retired as planned in the summer of 2023.

Dare's assistant superintendents are Dr. Mandy Welch, whose responsibilities include the curriculum and instruction, and Dr. Monica Fulton, who handles the building and grounds and human resources.

A DIVISION OF THE CENTRAL TRUST BANK | MEMBER FDIC

We are glad you are here!

On behalf of the residents, I would like to introduce you to our community

Whether you are just passing through, relocating from another area or just thinking about making Phelps County your home, we are glad you are here,

Rolla is the leading education, medical cultural, retail and economic center of South Central Missouri. All of the components that make up quality of life are here.

Rolla is home to the Missouri University of Science and Technology, a leading technological and research institution. Along with the campuses of four other institutions of higher learning and a top-rated public school system, we provide opportunities for people to prepare for their future.

Rolla has significant healthcare assets including Phelps Health, Four Rivers Health Clinic and Mercy Clinic. These facilities serve over 200,000 people in South Central Missouri with comprehensive patient care in a wide range of specialties. Our nationally accredited Delbert Day Cancer institute provides all cancer care services, and in collaboration with our University and private companies, state of the art biomedical research. In 2020 ETC Institute awarded to the City the "Leading the Way Award." This award recognizes that the City of Rolla is within the top 10% of all local governments in the United States for overall quality and value of service provided to residents.

Rolla has a well-balanced economy based on government institutions such as the United States Geological Survey, Mark Twain National Forest Headquarters, Missouri Department of Natural Resources and nearby Fort Leonard Wood, an Army Center of Excellence that trans nearly 90,000 military and civilians each year.

We have world-class high-tech companies such as Brewer Science and Mo-Sci Inc., and Hartmann, U.S.; along with the backbone of any small city, a thriving small business community.

What do we do for fun? The Mark Twain National Forest with its scenic, rolling hills, provides many opportunities for outdoor activities such as hiking, hunting and fishing along with canoeing and rafting on the Gasconade, Little Piney, Big Piney and Mer-amec Rivers. Lake of the Ozarks, with its nearly 1,200 miles of shoreline, is a short drive away. The Centre, a 63,000 square-foot fitness center to an aquatic center, gymnasium, indoor walking track and recreational programs for the entire community to enjoy. During the summer months, the outdoor Splash Zone offers a refreshing break for families. The City has 34 outdoor parks along with an eight-mile, well-maintained pedestrian and bike path system. We are often recognized as one of the 100 Best Small Towns in America.

Leach Theatre at Castleman Hall (Missouri S&T's 560-seat Performing Arts Center), the Ozark Actor's Theatre, Fine Linen Theatre and ArtsRolla, along with award-winning local wineries and a craft brewery, are additional assets that make Rolla such a desirable place to live, work and play.

The students and faculty living in Rolla represent over 80 countries giving our citizens the unique opportunity to meet and experience a multitude of people and cultures.

Rolla has all the benefits associated with a small city (population 20,000), but we retain the positive attributes of small-town charm. I know that you will find the community as welcoming as I did when I chose to relocate to Rolla. Welcome to Rolla, we are glad you are here.

Sincerely,
Louis J. Magdits, IV
Mayor of Rolla

Client's Love

It was such a great experience to work with Shaina and her team at Farmhouse Flooring. She helped me start to finish as we worked on what I wanted to get done, and the budget I had to work with. The pricing was fair and honest and the quality of material was top notch. Her and her team kept in constant communication with me throughout the process. The end result was exactly what I was looking for. I have zero hesitation in referring anyone to this business. It was a wonderful experience! Shop local and support small businesses like this.
